Guiding Questions:

1. The question is posed: "Should churches help the needy, even if they're here illegally?" What do you think?
2. Many immigrants die trying to come into the U.S. illegally. Why do you think they take such risks?
3. One man says: "When we go to the extreme of anything, to one side or the other, we are never going to come to a common ground" Comment on this statement. What do you think this man is saying? What are your thoughts on the possibility of finding "common ground" on the issue of illegal immigration?
